2024 ANNUAL REPORT

Sweetser

2023–24 HIGHLIGHTS

Started a weekly TV segment on WMTW Channel 8 called Mental Health Moment

Started a new program co-responding with law enforcement on mental health related calls

Converted our existing Belfast campus into adult residential services; Private Non-Medical Institution (PNMI)

Received a $4 million Federal expansion grant to continue our Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinic in Brunswick

Replaced our outdoor recreation and playgrounds on our Saco campus with the help of Lowe's and various community partners

Opened a new Teen Center for enrichment of the youth we serve thanks to local Rotarians and OOB365

THIS HAS BEEN A YEAR OF TRANSFORMATION FOR SWEETSER.

We've been laser-focused on making our organization a highly sought after leader in behavioral health for media stories, legislative advocacy, and new programs to best serve Maine people.

Our state-level advocacy efforts have included hosting dozens of legislators for tours and roundtable discussions at our various locations throughout the state for our first Community Mental Health Services Awareness Day. This is in addition to frequently testifying on various bills that aim to strengthen the entire behavioral health system and put Sweetser in a prime position to enhance our core services.

While we work to bring help and hope to more Mainers in need, we are committed to meeting the ever-changing and ever-increasing needs of Maine people. Our board and leadership team continue to identify opportunities to expand our programs into new areas, start new services, and work to reduce our waitlist for existing services.

2023 was marked with tragedy for Mainers. Our sense of security was deeply shaken. The collective trauma from the Lewiston shootings is still being felt. Sweetser mobilized all available resources and staff to the area in the immediate aftermath while deploying our experts across media to reassure a nervous public about available assistance. Our strong presence in the Lewiston area, both with physical locations and with services, will continue to be expanded to help advance long-term healing and support going forward.

The generosity of our donors, business partners, and supporters fuels our mission and amplifies our impact in every corner of our state. Thanks to you, we've had record-breaking fundraising events to ensure youth in Maine have the treatment and support they deserve. Thanks to you, we've raised more valuable resources to help the under and uninsured obtain care they couldn't afford otherwise. We couldn't do it without you.

This annual report provides an overview of our many adventures throughout 2023 and a look at the health of our 2022–2023 fiscal year. As we look ahead towards entering our growth era, you will find in this report an organization on the move. Thanks to the dedication and passion of our staff, Sweetser is well positioned to meet the moment for addressing the youth mental health crisis and ensure every Mainer has access to evidence-based and affordable treatment.

Welcome to the Board

JAY MCCREIGHT lives in Harpswell and has had a variety of experiences in social work and state government. Jay is a former member of the Maine House of Representatives, where she served 8 years and is a retired clinical counselor, having worked with children, youth, and families in Head Start and Maine public schools for over 30 years. She even previously worked at Sweetser in home-based family therapy and the Crisis Unit. She has a BA in Sociology from the College of Wooster and earned an M.S.Ed. in Clinical Counseling from the University of Southern Maine, on its Gorham campus. Jay remains heavily involved in local initiatives, including the Town of Harpswell's Resiliency & Sustainability Committee, Midcoast Council of Governments Economic Development Steering Committee, and Harpswell Aging at Home's Steering and Executive Committees and is Chair of the Volunteer Committee.

NEW PLAYGROUNDS

Lowe's & Community Partners build new playgrounds for Sweetser

Sweetser was one of only 100 projects nationally selected by Lowe's to receive a hometown community impact grant and the only project awarded in Maine.

The $145,000 award was combined with other community-based resources and support to rebuild and revitalize the outdoor recreation spaces on Sweetser's Saco campus. This included new playgrounds and a multi-purpose play court for the youth they serve between ages 5-18 in K-12 engaged in Sweetser's Child Crisis, Residential, and Educational Programs.

Hopeful

Throughout the tragic crisis in Lewiston, Sweetser deployed our experts across the media to help highlight important mental health resources available to Mainers during a very difficult time.

This included participating in non-stop live coverage on News Center Maine and WMTW, which had us join them at the anchor desk in between breaking news updates.

PROGRAM EXPANSION

BELFAST Sweetser has converted our Belfast campus into offering adult residential services. Like our Waterfall Place in Topsham, we now have a Private Non-Medical Institution (PNMI) that serves adults with major mental illness in Belfast.

BRUNSWICK Sweetser has established a new partnership with law enforcement agencies throughout the Midcoast to provide crucial liaison work, including de-escalation resources and mental health support to those most in need. Sweetser Liaison Michael Maudlin is based out of the Brunswick Police Department and also works with Bath and Topsham Police Departments and the Sagadahoc County Sheriff's Office.

The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration awarded Sweetser a $4 million grant to expand our Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinic (CCBHC) in Brunswick. Since its inception, this program has served more than 400 clients across the Midcoast. The additional $4 million grant will allow Sweetser to grow its capacity and to expand the number of clients we are able to serve.

Speaking Out For Sweetser

Our state is an outlier for youth psychiatric treatment

L.D. 181 would require DHS to eliminate the barriers to providing residential care for Maine young people closer to home.

For too many Maine youth are in residential treatment facilities outside the state. While the majority are in New England, some children are as far away as Arkansas, Utah and Illinois. We are sending money and our best generation away for treatment that we could be providing right here in Maine.

We need to bring them home – and we can, with the right structures in place. Treating these youth closer to home doesn't just create more natural support systems but can also save the state money.

The solution? Psychiatric residential treatment facilities. These are secure therapeutic residences that provide non-hospital inpatient psychiatric care and treatment to youth under the age of 18 who have MaineCare Medicaid coverage.

These non-hospital settings are less restrictive than hospital settings and are a safe alternative for treating children who have a less acute psychiatric illness but still require a locked structured residential setting because of their serious emotional disorder.

Care is provided under the guidance of a physician. Maine is an outlier with this model. Approximately 20 states operate psychiatric residential treatment facilities. Currently, Maine has under 100 child-relevant psychiatric beds and not a single psychiatric residential treatment facility. The result is that children languish untreated for days, if not weeks, and are often even admitted in emergency rooms with no clear treatment plan – or they are stuck without a clear discharge plan in a more restrictive hospital facility, the most expensive treatment option we have. Make no mistake, these are children who cannot safely be treated with in-home services.

Youth should be served in community settings when it is safe and appropriate to do so, and our collective energies and resources need to be devoted to early preventative services, but there is a place for secure psychiatric residential treatment facilities in Maine.

Youth who are too dysregulated to function in a traditional open-door residential setting, even with intensive support, are often turned away from providers. It leaves families with very few options. These trauma-stricken youth are subject to conflicting and/or inconsistent treatment plans, typically for medication management.

The need for services is widely recognized by the provider community and the Maine Department of Health and Human Services. The downstream consequences of excessive staffing requirements and significantly insufficient reimbursement. The significant costs of delivering this service are high and underappreciated.

To be clear, the proposed psychiatric residential treatment facility remains a treatment facility and not a residential care facility. It is not intended to convert the regulatory requirements.

What we see play out in other states is that children who experienced the most positive outcomes in terms of juvenile justice involvement, improved school functioning, decreased prescriptions. It provides for excessive staffing requirements and significantly insufficient reimbursement. The significant costs of delivering this service are high and underappreciated.

We know what the gap is in our behavioral health system and what is needed to develop a more comprehensive continuum of care for our youth. We need to act now. L.D. 181 is the solution. Directing the Department of Health and Human Services to implement the proposed Child's Psychiatric Residential Treatment Facility Services, would create the sense of urgency we need to ensure providers can implement the type of program effectively.

Instead of spending taxpayer money out of state on inpatient care that takes

School-based clinicians serve on youth mental health crisis' front lines

Through school-based behavioral health services, Maine students are able to learn coping and regulation skills. Those skills are needed more than ever.

In the latest 2023 Kids Count data book published a dire picture that should be an immediate call for action to help Maine youth with their mental health issues.

According to the report, nearly 20% of Maine's roughly 35,000 high school students reported feeling sad or hopeless, representing a 4% increase from just before the pandemic. Incidents of self-harm are up, the number of students who seriously thought about suicide in the past year. School-based clinicians join with guidance counselors and school social workers to support students' mental health needs.
